<Translation>

1 Mt Akandake rises in a break between clouds. The peaks run east to west and are covered with Yezo spruces. Our town's magnificent location, Our hometown covered with green. Forefathers developed the forests around us, nurtured with love, and united their efforts. How precious the teaching of harmony is. We are here, our home school.

2 Blooming flowers smell sweet throughout the fields. The snow begins to dissolve and the water flows in harmony with the fields. The river has run through the spring rejoicing in song. And the water has developed a route and made a lake. We study science thoroughly here in the present times, seek after truth, and civilise our culture. How bright the light of the wisdom is. We are here, our home school.

3 The wide open sky is clear with bright blue. The food from the land grows fully ripe. When we go close to the window, we can see high and beautiful mountains and they make me remember the high ideals of youth.

We make an effort and strive for anything here, foster our faith, and have courtesy. How warmly the community watches us. We are here, our home school. Ashoro Senior High School.
